Thomas Explains Wheat Balloting

The Randall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office has explained who is eligible to vote in the July 21 referendum on 1961 wheat marketing quotas.

According to Doyle Thomas, office manager, any grower in a commercial wheat state who will produce more than 15 acres of wheat as grain in 1961 will be eligible to cast a ballot in the quota vote.

Growers who will have smaller wheat acreages in 1961 and those who are taking part in the feed wheat program are not eligible to vote, since the wheat from such farms would not be subject to marketing penalties.

The office manager reminded farmers that those who vote in the July 21 referendum will be the ones who decide what kind of program will be in effect for the next wheat crop. He urged that every eligible voter cast his ballot, so that the result may reflect the desires of growers themselves.

At least two-thirds of the total votes cast must be favorable if the 1961 wheat marketing quota is to remain in effect.

President of WT Speaks on Poets

A series of programs, "Poets Are People, Too," is being televised each Sunday for the remainder of the summer over KGNCTV in Amarillo, and features Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College.

A former professor of English and literature, Dr. Cornette presents the American poets of the 19th and 20th centuries in contrast and comparison, emphasizing the personal lives of this nation's greatest poets. The program, which began July 3, is televised Sundays from 3:30 until 4 p.m.

The famed Jesse Stuart, Kentucky teacher-poet, who appeared at WT and in Amarillo for the district Texas State Teachers Association convention last March, will be Dr. Cornette's choice of poets Sunday. He opened his series with a view of the life and letters of William Cullen Bryant.

Scheduled for discussion on succeeding shows are Edna St. Vincent Millay, Henry W. Longfellow, Walt Whitman, Emily Dickinson, Edgar Lee Masters, Edwin Arlington Robinson, Robert Frost, and others.

Dr. Cornette illustrates his talks with pictures of the poets, their homes, activities and mementoes.

Before he became dean of Baylor University and later president of WT, Dr. Cornette was a professor of English and literature for 15 years at Western Kentucky State College.

Joyce Hill in States After Leaving Cuba

Joyce Hill, daughter of George Hill of Canyon, is safely out of Cuba, where she has been serving as a missionary for the Methodist Church. Joyce, who arrived in the States last week, will be in Canyon about July 20, according to her father. She, along with her brother, Eugene, are visiting their sister, Leta Guild, in East Lansing, Mich., and will leave there July 17 or 18.

Typical of new streets in Canyon during last week's heavy downpour is this scene at the corner of 26th street and Ninth Avenue. City Manager Herschell Stevens said paved streets "held up pretty good," but new streets, covered with caliche, got soggy and fell through. Stevens said city employees would start at one end of town and work to the other in repairing streets.

Talks on Road Construction Mark Commission Session

Road construction—and reconstruction—comprised most of the discussion at Randall County Commissioners' Court Monday.

The reconstruction called for a change in 2.4 miles of paving to eliminate a water drainage problem. The project, awarded to Gilvin-Terrill on a low bid of $5,580, calls for lowering the road level, four new culverts, and a seal coat on the entire strip.

The change was made to eliminate water drainage into the Herman Patke home.

Drainage Inadequate
Constructed last year, the road runs north from FM 2590.

Harvey Schmidt, county engineer, said the present drainage methods were inadequate to keep water from backing up into homes near the corner.

Bailie McCormick, who was commissioner for that area when the road was built, said the road level was built up two feet because of "the snow problem." McCormick said drifting was especially bad at that corner.

About 800 feet of the roadway will have to be lowered, Schmidt said.

Proposed Loop
Earl Marrs, who lives on Hollywood Road east of the Amarillo Expressway, appeared before commissioners to ask about plans for the proposed construction of a loop around Amarillo. Hollywood Road will become a part of the loop.

Marrs, who said he had donated land to the county in 1954 for the construction of a Farm-to-Market Road, asked how plans for the loop were coming.

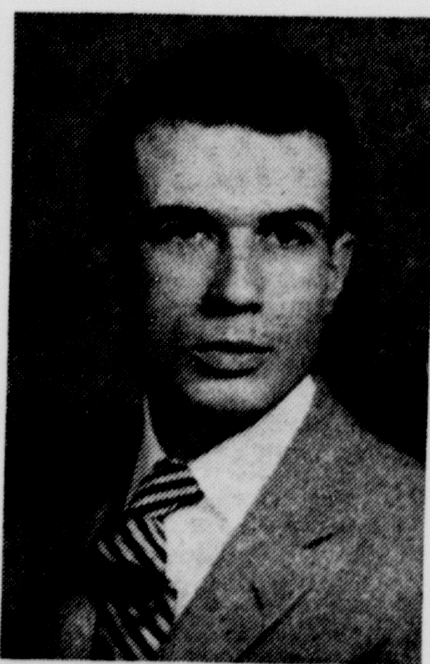

C. Y. Johnson, precinct 4 commissioner, told him the state's appraisal of right-of-way needed had not been completed, and the county needed the appraisal as a basis of estimating costs before proceeding with the loop.

A petition requesting a bond election to finance the loop cannot be circulated until the county has an estimate of the cost, and a bond election will be needed to finance the loop.

Other Requests
Red Simpson of Amarillo requested county help with a road entering the southern section of the Palisades, but no action was taken.

Commissioners asked that Roland Black, Chamber of Commerce executive secretary, get public reaction to the chamber's proposal that more parking area be provided around the courthouse by removing a portion of the courthouse lawn.

ALFRED J. HARRIS

Harris Appointed To Teach at WT

Alfred J. Harris, a former Texan who has been teaching in Michigan for the past five years, has been appointed assistant professor of modern languages at West Texas State College. He will assume duties in September.

Harris, who is married and has two daughters, earned his B.A. degree at Texas Western College and his M.A. at the University of Texas. He taught one year as an assistant at the University before going to Michigan.

For two years Harris was a principal and teacher in an elementary school in Kent County, Michigan. He has taught for the last three years in Montague High School in Michigan.

Coach Launches Fitness Program

A weight training and physical fitness program began Tuesday at Canyon High School under the direction of Coach E. J. "Jeep" Webb.

All boys who are interested have been urged by Coach Webb to attend the sessions, which are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 p.m. at the gym.

Those who wish to participate in the program must take shorts and tennis shoes to the gym with them, Coach Webb said.

City, Health Unit Open War on Flies

Hoping to solve the fly situation in the northwest part of Canyon, the City Commission decided Thursday night to request the Potter-Randall Bi-County Health Commission to conduct an intensive campaign against flies in that entire area.

The decision was reached after Dr. Albert Randall, head of the health commission, reported that after a careful inspection of Keith Poole's caged layer operation, he could not declare the chicken houses a menace to public health.

J. P. Hammons, who lives at 104 12th Street, directly south of Poole's operation, has repeatedly asked that something be done about the chicken houses which he feels are the cause of the flies.

A. W. Lair, city attorney, told the city commission that the city is not legally in a position to do anything unless Poole's chicken houses are declared a health hazard.

Dr. Randall repeated that Poole has done everything the health commission has advised him to do, is zoned properly, and has always been cooperative in complying with health regulations.

After an inspection of Poole's chicken houses in June, W. E. Stallings, sanitarian with the health commission, stressed that the premises are "kept neat and clean."

City Commissioner Clarence Eugene Thompson said the problem, as he saw it, was that flies were admittedly unhealthy, that flies were attracted to the chicken houses, and that Hammons could not understand why this did not constitute a health hazard.

Flies Thick in Area
Dr. Randall replied that flies were thick in the whole area, in some places which were completely unrelated to the chicken operation.

Since Poole was complying with regulations and it could not be proved that the flies were coming from his chicken houses, Dr. Randall said that the only thing left for Hammons to do was file an injunction against Poole.

Lair said he did not think Hammons could get an injunction because "I don't think the facts justify it." He said that Poole's operation went in with the full sanction of the city and with the full knowledge of Hammons and that the city was not in a position to take any affirmative action against Poole.

Dr. Randall then suggested that the health unit could go into the entire area and work it over for "fly control and general environmental sanitation." This would include clearing all fly breeding places and notifying everyone in the area who owned property on which flies could grow and multiply.

He added that the health commission's job was not placing the blame on certain persons, but rather "making sure that health is maintained."

Last Rites Held For Gene Walters

Funeral services for Gene Walters, 32, were held at 4 p.m. Monday in the LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Walters died Saturday in Austin, following a lengthy illness.

Rev. C. Newton Starnes, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated at the services. Pallbearers were George Hill, J. C. Curb, H. R. Hungate, H. A. Brotherton, E. A. Oberst, Sr., and W. F. Boehning.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Rae M. Walters of Canyon; his father, P. L. Walters of Amarillo; a sister, Mrs. Fern Kieser of Menlo Park, Calif.; a brother, Richard Walters of Amarillo, and a grandmother, Mrs. Della Walters of Happy.

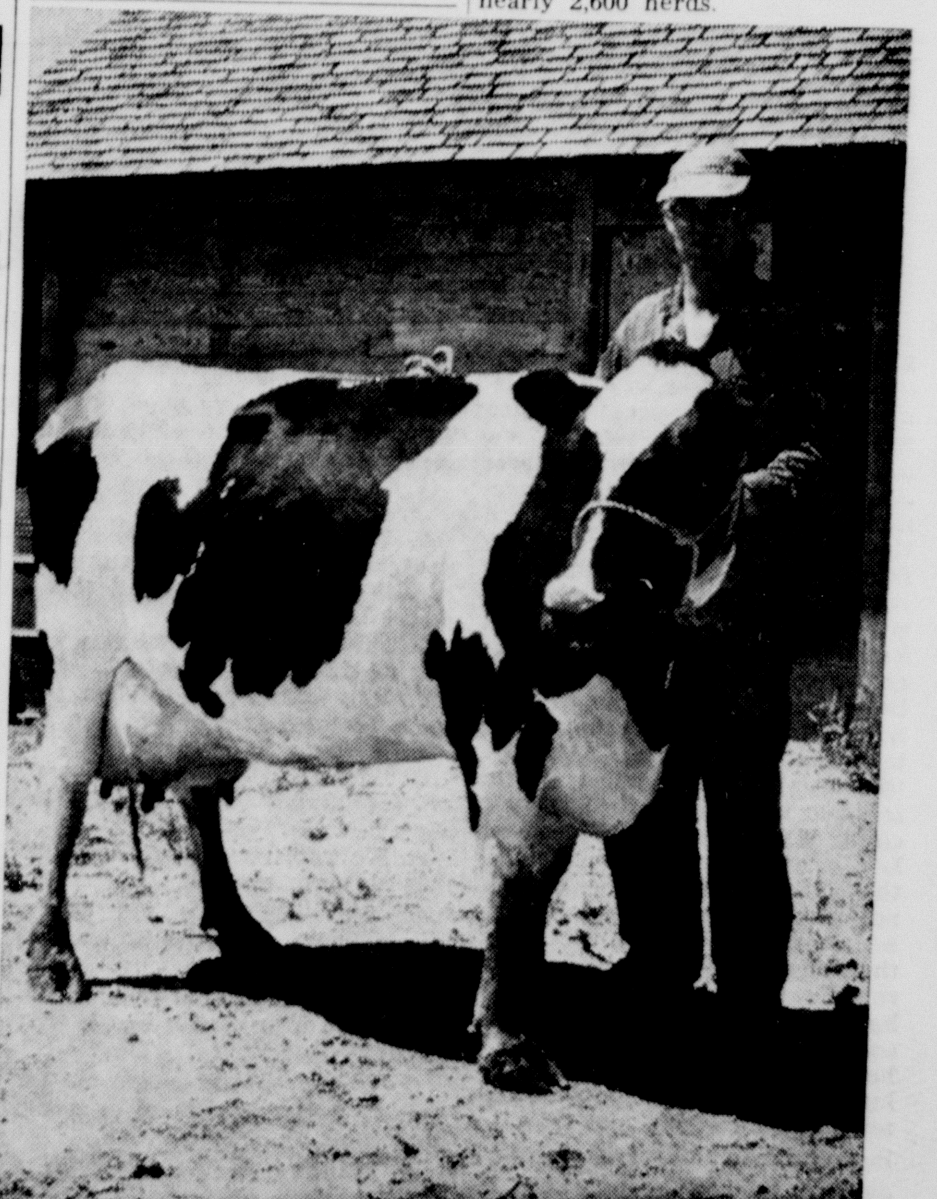

Mr. Walters was born August 22, 1927, in Happy.

8 Canyon Scouts To Attend Meet

Eight Canyon Boy Scouts will attend the National Jamboree, to be held at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Planning to attend are Tommy Hildreth, Alex de Schweinitz, Billy Walker, George Cox, Randy Warren, Mike Blasdel, Davis Price, and Dick White.

The boys will leave Canyon at 5:30 a.m. next Wednesday and will return July 29.

Louis Hinders, Randall County dairy farmer, poses with Springrock Greg Goldie. The registered Holstein has shattered a state record in the production of butterfat.

MARION HENSON

Henson Attends National Sessions

Marion Henson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Henson, 2406 Fifth Avenue, flew to Washington, D. C., Saturday to attend the National Future Homemakers of America convention July 10-15.

Miss Henson, vice president of Area I FHA, was accompanied by 53 other Texas FHA girls.

Theme of the program will be "Home—the Hub of Good Citizenship."

A junior at Canyon High School, Miss Henson has been in FHA four years and served as class secretary and FHA chapter vice president in 1959-60. She has been active in chorus, serving as secretary-treasurer last year and making the All-Region Chorus two years.

Rains in excess of six inches sent run-off water pouring into area lakes, as shown by this picture of lake water streaming from the east side of FM 1741 to the west side. Many county lakes, like this one south of Umbarger, have been filled to overflowing by heavy rains in June and July.

The Independent Voter

Since 1952, we have heard more and more about a sizeable group of Americans who call themselves "independents." They are citizens who say they do their own thinking, who vote "for the man instead of the party," and who contend that they are better citizens than so-called "brass collar" Democrats or Republicans.

Although well meaning, these people fail to understand the American system of government. They fail to understand the necessity of a strong, virile two-party system. They fail to understand the evils of a one-party state and of a multi-party state.

The independent voter is not unlike the citizen of a community who refuses to align himself with any organization of the town but who sits on the sideline so that he can criticize everything attempted by the city council, the chamber of commerce, the service club, the picnic association, or any other organized group. While never attempting anything himself, he likes to criticize what "they" are doing or have done.

He disassociates himself with the two major political parties in America so he can point out the mistakes with the inference that he knows the answer—yet he never steps forward to offer his service in solving the problem.

When a party is enjoying popularity, he wants on the bandwagon. When its popularity slumps, he is the first to abandon ship.

David Lawrence recently wrote, "A myth has been built up that the 'independents' constitute the best-informed group in the entire electorate. This writer has never accepted such a view and has contended just the opposite—that the independents are swayed much more by superficial than critical analyses of the issues."

Lawrence refers to a book recently written by several University of Michigan professors, all of them specialists in the field of political science.

Far from confirming the widespread impression that "independents" are thoughtful, well-informed persons who have a profound knowledge of political issues, the Michigan experts contend that the voter who is consistently identified with one or the other of the political parties is likely to know more about the issues than is the independent.

Detailed studies and polls show that of those citizens who are strongly identified with one or the other of the parties, 62 percent "care very much" whereas 18 percent "do not care very much or don't care at all." This contrasts with the record of the so-called "independents" who are divided almost 50-50 between those who "care very much" and those who "do not care very much or don't care at all."

The authors conclude that "the individual who has a strong and continuing involvement in politics is more likely to develop a commitment to one or the other of the major parties. And the individual who has such a commitment is likely to have his interest and concern with politics sustained at a higher level."

This is but another way of saying that the so-called "independents" are people who have not learned much from lofty speeches or pronouncements and are swayed in each campaign by emotional or economic considerations.

The truth is that the word "independent" is a misnomer. In England, they are far more realistic about it. They call the uncertain voters "switch" voters. This is because they go from party to party in each election, depending upon which way the wind is blowing from the economic standpoint.

Many of these "switch" voters do not have to go to the polls at all. If they are satisfied with current conditions, they are more than likely to stay at home rather than bother to cast a vote. When, however, they are aroused by some issue, whether economic or emotional—like corruption or a threat of war—these same voters show up at the polls.

The integrity of an administration can become the important issue in a national campaign, and emotions can be aroused over war and peace. In the absence of any emotional issue, economic considerations usually influence the vast majority of the voters. If they are satisfied, they continue the party in power. If they are displeased, they turn to the opposite party.

While it is legitimate to be an "independent," it is no particular credit to an individual. The independent column should be reserved for all those too busy and disinterested to participate in politics, to study the issues, to be informed voters.

Ready for World War III?

Hooray for the Army!

The Engineer Research Laboratory at Ft. Belvoir, Va., has announced completion of another step toward preparedness for World War III.

This is the development of a 36,000-pound machine, powered with a 130-horsepower motor mounted on rubber tires which can do many things "under favorable conditions."

In one minute, it can dig a trench two feet wide, four feet deep and 20 feet long "under favorable conditions." It can excavate six cubic yards of earth a minute "under favorable conditions." (There was no timing for soil full of rocks and roots).

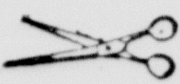

The announcement added: "The new machine is capable of performing all types of Army excavation work. It can dig one-man and two-man foxholes in a minute under favorable conditions. It can dig heavy machine-gun emplacements in a little over three minutes and large horseshoe-type emplacements in five minutes."

We can now feel assured we will win the next war "under favorable conditions." That is, if the next one is to be of trench warfare-type, as World War I was. Or is the Army getting back to boondoggling with a new zest?

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Marvin Tomme in The Rails Banner: Recently in high school graduation exercises in a Long Island school a 17-year-old senior refused to accept an award given a high-ranking senior by the local American Legion post. Life magazine picked up the story as did the Legion house organ. A quote from Legion officials called his refusal "A lifetime mistake that will plague him." Now, I don't know about that. If the boy has no respect for the Legion, which he said he did not, then there is nothing that should compel him to accept the award. After all, this country was founded on the freedom of thought the boy exercised. And I don't know just what Legion officials were so hot under the collar about. If the boy did not respect their organization, a belief in which he is not alone, then why would they want to shove something down his throat? Also he was criticized for not making some comment on his actions. If he didn't want to give his reasons, hurry! Too many organizations tend to push others into their beliefs through publicity and intimidation. He is entirely within his rights and if he doesn't believe in the Legion that's entirely his business. Period!

Harold Hudson in The Ochiltree County Herald: The editor of the Montello (Wisconsin) Tribune recently answered some questions he had received from readers of his weekly newspaper.

Q. Why don't you have funny papers?

A. We think we have the funniest paper in Wisconsin right now. Q. Why do you have all those misprints?

A. They're the most entertaining part of the whole paper.

Q. Why didn't you publish the poem I sent you?

A. It was a lousy poem.

Q. Why do you always say "we" when referring to yourself in the paper?

A. We want our readers to think they're outnumbered.

Q. Why don't you put out a bigger paper, like the Milwaukee Journal?

A. We plan on it as soon as the population of Montello equals that of Milwaukee.

Q. What would you give me for writing a weekly column or moral homespun philosophy?

A. A poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

Q. Why don't you write an editorial and tell those guys on the city council what they can do to improve the town?

A. Why don't you go down to the next meeting and tell 'em yourself?

Q. Why don't you print more letters to the editor?

A. Why don't you write me one? And sign it with your name, please—don't be a chicken.

Q. Why do you devote space to trivialities such as "Joe Smith is feeling poorly this week?"

A. Because good old Joe has many pals who are concerned over his health, even if you are not. Who knows, somebody might read this item and send Joe a bottle of sympathy.

☆ Paul Crume in The Dallas Morning News: Gary Dailey, four, has been going with his six-year-old sister, Debbie, to summer church school.

He came home the other day while his dad, Vernon, was working on some flower beds and remarked that he knew what caused the flowers and shrubs to grow.

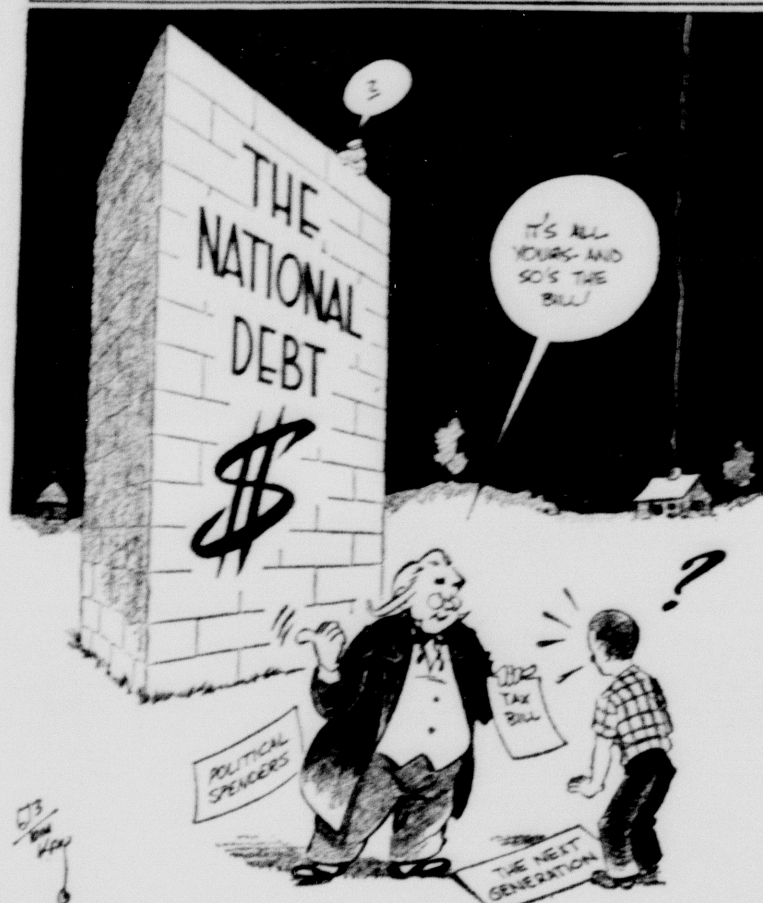

"What?" asked his father.

"God," replied Gary.

He looked at the beds and then added: "God and fertilizer."

The love of other peoples' money is also the root of much evil.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

Making Speeches and Cracking Jokes is a Serious Undertaking

By BOYCE HOUSE

It was a drizzling, gloomy day and a windshield, smudged with mud whenever another car passed, made driving a task. As I pulled into a service station, the thought arose: Here is a man who is sheltered from the weather and safe from the hazards of the highway. The proprietor, as he filled the gas tank, asked, "Do you drive around over the state a good deal in your work?"

"Yes," I replied.

He continued, "I just stay here by the road and watch others go by. You have a job that is real living."

People who don't make speeches think that it is a simple matter for an experienced speaker to make one.

How mistaken this idea is! In the space of 11 months, this chronicler has made eight addresses in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. On an average, I use 20 jokes in a speech—that's about one per minute. For fear that someone at one of the meetings will be present at a later one, eight completely different speeches were made. This required about 160 stories and that is about equal, in words, to one-third of the book, "I Give You Texas."

And it's not as simple even as that. You can't use just any stories; they have to have a purpose, an idea to emphasize and they must be fitted into a pattern; so, with the planning, the selection of material, going through it to get it in hand and the physical and mental effort of actual delivery—besides the worry as to whether the remarks will flop—this all adds up to a serious undertaking, even if it is a humorous speech.

Waco has a "midget market." Sappy Sam says, "I didn't think Waco could have enough midgets to support a market."

A sign on a little store in Austin, "Yep, we're open."

Demand for Birth Certificates Hits Peak During July, August

This September, 262,420 children are expected to enter the public schools of Texas for the first time according to estimates of the Texas Education Agency.

Estimates are based on births six years ago, immigration estimates, and projected birth-to-death ratios. Nearly all public school districts in Texas require proof-of-age in the form of a birth certificate or a suitable certified copy stating that they are six years old on or before September 1.

During July and August, because of the increased demand for birth certificate copies, the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health is one of the busiest places in Texas.

At the peak periods more than a thousand requests for certified copies must be processed daily.

After the request is received with the correct information and fee properly accounted, a card is prepared which serves as a record of the transaction and an aid in locating the original record.

A special searching crew—extra personnel are needed during peak periods—locates the original birth certificate from information furnished on the record card.

The original certificate is photostated, officially signed and sealed, and mailed to the person requesting the copy.

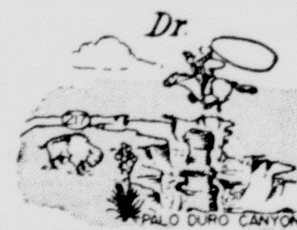

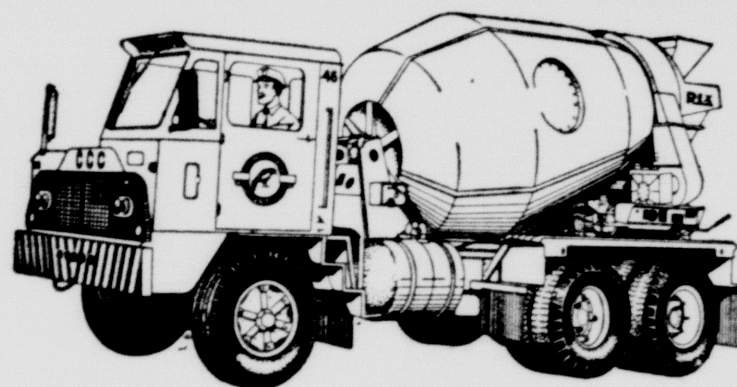

A record is kept of the transaction for accounting purposes with appropriate listings.

Parents who have a child entering the first grade this year should check with the superintendent of school regarding local regulations.

A certified copy of a birth may be obtained from a local registrar, county clerk, or the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health, 410 East 5th Street, Austin, Texas.

Enclose $1 with the child's name, date and place of birth, and the parents' names.

Three years of work by the Dreamland Cemetery Association have transformed Canyon's run-down, neglected cemetery into the beautiful, well-cared-for cemetery it is today. The association hired a full-time caretaker to get rid of the weeds and dead trees and keep the cemetery looking its best, installed an irrigation system, and converted the old equipment house into a chapel with chimes.

Three Years of Hard Work Make Worst Cemetery Best

By BOB TAYLOR

It's a long, hard road from worst to best, but after three years of intensive work and effort, Dreamland Cemetery has made the trip.

Canyon's cemetery, long thought of as one of the worst cemeteries in the state, is now recognized as one of the best.

The cemetery's bad reputation was caused by neglect. For many years after its opening in 1891, the cemetery was kept in good condition by friends and relatives of those buried there. Then as people moved from Canyon or died, there was no one left to care for many of the graves except a part-time caretaker.

Weeds Took Over

Grass grew tall for lack of mowing, and weeds began to take over the grounds. Trees and shrubs, once beautiful, died or grew out of control.

Then in July, 1957, Dreamland Cemetery Association began a drive for money to establish permanent care for the cemetery. The plan was to raise the price of grave spaces from $15 to $50 and ask all who owned property in the cemetery to give $50 for each grave space owned.

This money was to be divided into two parts, 60 percent to be used for operating costs, such as salaries and equipment, and 40 percent to be put into a trust fund which would be invested. The interest from this 40 percent would be used to care for the cemetery.

Improved Rapidly

It was January, 1958, before the required goal of $12,500 was reached and the perpetual care plan was put into operation. Since that time the association improved the cemetery at such a rapid rate that now, just three years after the plan was started, Dreamland Cemetery is regarded as one of the most beautiful cemeteries in the Panhandle.

Dirt Roads Paved

A flag pole was erected at the cemetery by the VFW, and a flag was donated by John Hunter.

Curbs and gutters were put in at the triangle where the flag pole is located. This improvement was paid for by B. B. Warren, W. A. Wilson, and E. A. Oberst, Sr.

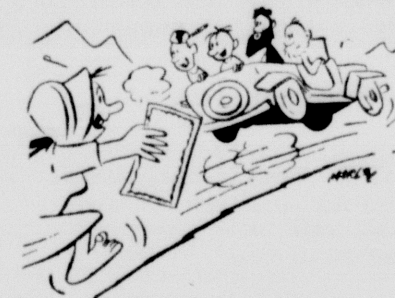

removed, grass was encouraged to grow, and weeds were cleared out and killed by the full-time caretaker hired by the association. The entire cemetery was kept mowed, using a tractor and mower donated to the cemetery by the association's board of directors, Hosea Foster, George Blackwell, Johnnie McBroom, and Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Later the dirt roads through the cemetery were paved, and a new building was constructed for the cemetery equipment. The old equipment house in the center of the cemetery was converted into a small chapel, in which a carillon, donated by Mrs. E. D. Harrell, was installed.

The association's latest plan for the cemetery is the removal of all curbs. Curbs are not useful and only make maintenance more difficult, since weeds and tall grass near them must be cut by hand.

Without curbs this work can be done by machinery, which cuts both the cost and the time involved in half.

"The value of Dreamland Cemetery has doubled in the three years since the cemetery association took over," Jerry LaGrone, cemetery manager, said, "and it will increase in value as long as improvements continue."

An honest opinion may have its place, but it has disrupted many a friendship.

why not load up the car and take the family for a weekend of fun at the lake or your favorite stream? It's not far by car. There's boating, or skiing, or fishing or maybe you'd enjoy the peace and quiet of getting away. A trip by car is the inexpensive way to treat the whole family to a world of fun in the out of doors.

Before you leave, let your friendly Cosden dealer get your car "travel ready". He will give it bumper to bumper service and fill it with Cosden Premium Ethyl or Higher Octane Regular gasoline. For best mileage economy it's a better brand to GO BUY! You'll like the way Cosden performs. It's refined and "travel tested" especially for Southwest driving conditions. Best wishes for a world of fun this weekend!

Washington Report Know This Man?

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

For this week's newsletter, I am taking the liberty of passing on to you an article which was placed in the Congressional Record by my good friend, Congressman Frank Bow of Ohio. You will note that this article was published in the Rotary Graph, a publication of the Weslaco Rotary Club. Having been a long time and ardent member of the Rotary Club and a good friend of Frank's, I have no hesitancy in passing this story along, together with some comments of my own. Here it is:

"DO YOU HAPPEN TO KNOW THIS MAN?"

"The Rotary Graph, a publication of the Weslaco Rotary Club, has passed along this little story, source unknown. It is almost as funny as it is tragic.

"A young man lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode the free school bus, and participated in the free lunch program. He entered the Army, then upon discharge retained his national service insurance. He then enrolled in the state university, working part time in the state capitol to supplement his GI education check.

"Upon graduation, he married a public health nurse and bought a farm with an FHA loan and then obtained an RFC loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of the veterans' land program and obtained emergency feed from the Government.

Government Cleared Land
"Later he put part of his land in the soil bank and the payments soon paid out his farm and ranch. His father and mother lived very comfortably on the ranch on their social security and old-age assistance checks. REA lines supplied electricity. The government helped clear his land. The county agent showed him how to terrace it; then the government built him a fishpond and stocked it with many fish. The government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products at highest prices.

"Books from the public library were delivered to his door. He banked money which a government agency insured. His children grew up, entered public schools, ate free lunches, rode free school buses, played in public parks, swam in public pools, and joined the FFA. The man owned an automobile so he favored the federal highway program.

"He signed a petition seeking federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his area. He was a leader in obtaining the new post office and federal building, and went to Washington with a group to ask the government to build a great dam costing millions so that the area could get cheap electricity.

Leader of Movement

"He petitioned the government to give the local air base to the county. He was also a leader in the movement to get his specific type of farming special tax write-offs and exemptions. Of course, he belonged to several farmers' organizations, but denied that they were pressure groups.
"Then, one day, he wrote his congressman: 'I wish to protest these excessive governmental expenditures and attendant high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own two feet without expecting handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends and I demand a return to the principles of our Constitution and the policies of states' rights.'"

Thus ends the story that appeared in the Congressional Record. We do not know who was the original writer of this story, but it is obvious that he was deeply impressed by many of the government programs that seem to get all of the attention and publicity, since he made no reference to some of the hidden subsidies which are being passed out daily. Under the circumstances, I think his story should be amended by inserting in the center of the story the following paragraph:

Benefits to Children

"When his children grew up, one of them obtained a federal scholarship in order to attend college. Another obtained a job in a factory producing heavy machinery under a contract with a foreign government which was receiving foreign aid out of the pockets of the taxpayers of this country, with which it paid off its obligations to the factory where this son was employed. Another son obtained a position in charge of negotiating contracts for the government with manufacturing concerns under the terms of which the government agreed to pay a higher price for certain products than that for which these products could be obtained under competitive bidding, the purpose being to provide employment and profit to the manufacturer concerned because it was located in an area which had been declared a distressed area under a yardstick applied by another government agency in which one of the daughters worked. Another son operated a business which would have gone bankrupt had he not been able to obtain a small business loan from the federal government, and the business produced by workmen employed at an urban renewal project which was being financed and paid for by the federal government.

Incidentally, all of the family learned about rugged individualism and free enterprise from what they read in a national magazine which had an annual subsidy from the federal government of about $9,494,000."

Wheat Quotas Sent to Farmers

COLLEGE STATION — Official notices of farm allotments for the 1961 wheat crop are being mailed to farmers this week, according to Baldwin P. Davenport, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Most of the allotments differ only slightly from those for 1960, since the national acreage allotment remains at the minimum of 55 million acres, Davenport said.

He pointed out that all growers who will produce more than 15 acres of wheat as grain in 1961 will be eligible to cast ballots in the July 21 referendum on marketing quotas for the '61 wheat crop. Growers with smaller acreages and those in the feed wheat program are not eligible to vote since their wheat would not be subject to marketing quota penalties.

Davenport said the referendum would decide important questions for wheat producers and he urged all eligible growers to cast a ballot. Marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1961 wheat crop if two-thirds of the growers casting ballots favor their continuance. Too, marketing penalties will apply to the excess wheat of growers not complying with their farm allotments, and price support at not less than 75 percent of parity will be available.

If more than one-third of the voters oppose the quotas, no quotas or penalties will be in effect on the 1961 wheat crop and price support at 50 percent of parity will be available to producers who plant within their farm allotments.

Growers who like to make their own decisions should cast a ballot on July 21, Davenport said. Local announcements will soon be made regarding polling places and opening and closing times for the balloting.

Some people spend a lifetime trying to map out a career.

Steen,

Last week's five days and nights of continual rainfall turned many roads into rivers like this one off of FM 1714. Reports are that Washington Street is under water near Weldon Hager's house and that the cut-off between Umbarger and Vega is flooded. There are several small dirt roads which are still under water and others that have dried off since the sun came out Friday afternoon.

Twice this month graduating seniors have refused honors extended them for their achievements. From the outside, there seems to be little connection between the two incidents.

A Westbury, New York, high school boy refused an American Legion award, one of six honors he was to have received. Three had already been presented and accepted before he spoke out; whereupon the other two were presented to other students. This somewhat left-handed compliment from school authorities was naturally, it seems to us, resented by the substitutes, who in turn refused on the grounds the awards rightfully belonged to the original holder.

We agree with this boy and girl, who supported his right to refuse the award, but thought "the way he did it was in poor taste and bad manners."

In Williams Bay, Wisconsin, the valedictorian of the University of Illinois' 2,700-member graduating class refused to attend commencement exercises. He said they were "too spectacular" and he chose to "disaffiliate" himself as a true beatnik. Such talk from a young man with such capabilities is undoubtedly a pose, designed to offset the title of "brain" which young people often fear will lose them the approval of their classmates.

Certainly there is no reason why healthy American youths should not refuse extended honors if they want to. As school leaders, however, they are looked up to by their classmates, many of whom will approve the flouting of authority without examining the reasons, and will try to imitate it at the first opportunity.

What we might criticize is the way in which these young men asserted themselves. Principles are one thing. Rudeness and bad example are two others.

"From 3 to 13 My Dishes Get Clean..Automatically-" says Mrs. Don Winter, 1401 W. Beaver, Guymon, Okla.

Here's an enthusiastic homemaker who fully utilizes her electric dishwasher, whether it's just the family three for breakfast or a friendly dinner group of thirteen. In either situation, Mrs. Winter merely "pushes the button" for sanitary, clean dishes. Incidentally, all the dishes used by the thirteen people in the actual dinner party pictured easily went into Mrs. Winter's electric dishwasher with plenty of room for proper washing.

"OUR ELECTRIC BILL IS THE BIGGEST BARGAIN WE HAVE"

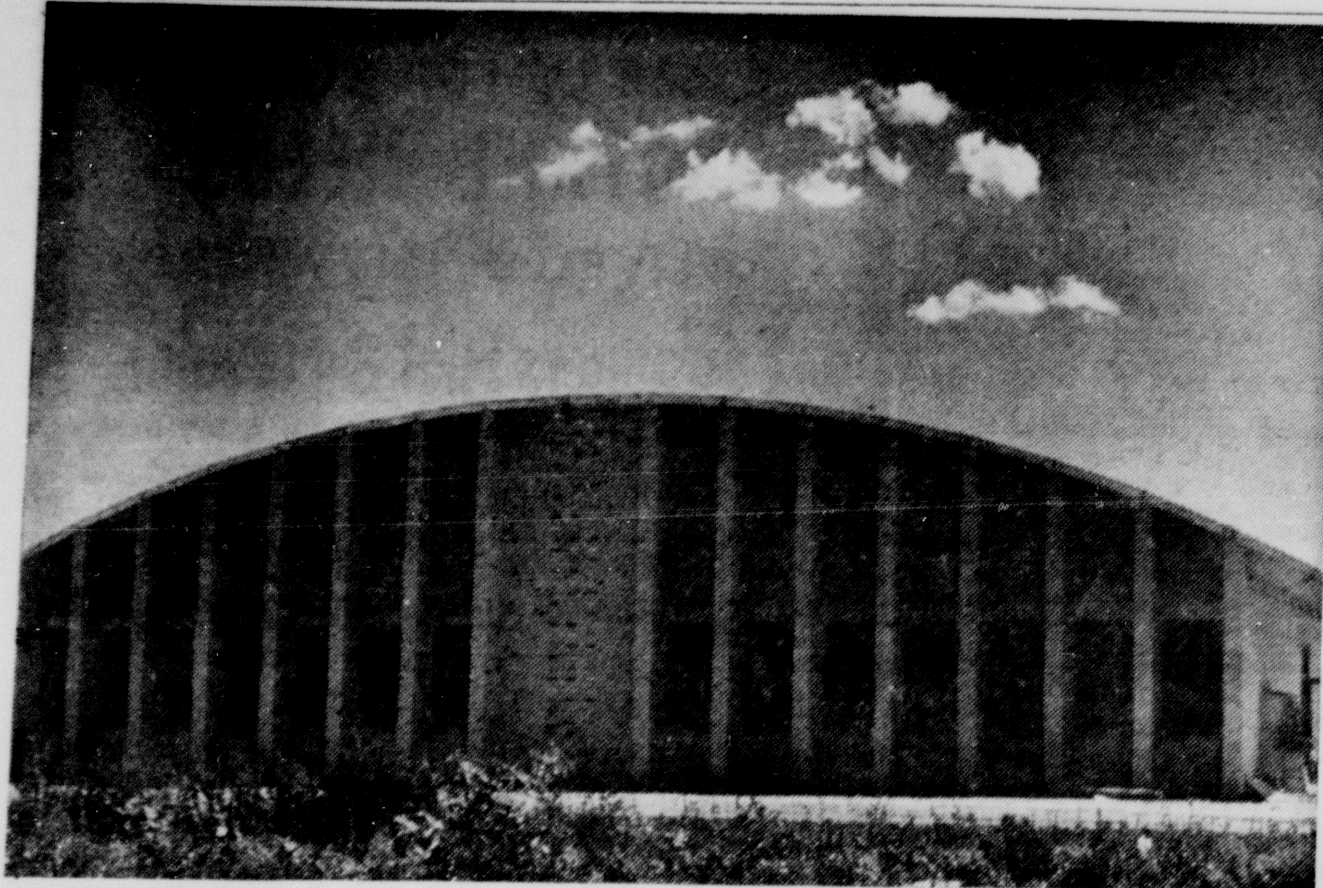

It's the man of the house who usually pays the bills and Mr. Winter is no exception. Despite unlimited use of electric service in the Winter home, Mr. Winter is happy with the low cost of his electric service. No wonder he says, "Our electric bill is the biggest bargain we have."

Work on Canyon's new high school is nearing completion. The classroom wing and the vocational wing will be finished by September 1 and workers are rushing to get the cafeteria ready by that time, according to Joe Gibson, superintendent of schools. Furniture and fixtures for the auditorium, shown above, should be delivered August 15 and will probably be installed by the time school starts, Gibson said today.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Things are rather quiet around the State Capitol these days.

For one thing, it's the "off season," the hiatus that regularly occurs between state elections and the convening of a new Legislature.

For another, it's vacation time with a part of almost every agency staff off to forget it all for a time.

But mostly, for this week, the Austin lull stems from most people's suspenseful interest in the activity of Texans in Los Angeles. Gov. Price Daniel, vice chairman of the Texas delegation to the National Democratic Convention, and numerous others have been away for several weeks working in behalf of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's nomination for the presidency.

Despite these distractions, state government goes on. Studies are under way on many subjects, on budgets, tax plans and other future legislation. It's important work, but quiet, during this digging and analyzing stage. It'll break into the news next fall as reports are made and trial balloons are run up on bills to be introduced in January.

Surest indication that state government is still on the job is that even now it's hard to find a parking place near the Capitol or the adjoining state office buildings.

During the summer a dozen or so parking slots by the Capitol's east entrance are set aside for tourists. As a rule, tourists don't keep them filled, and Capitol guards are regularly beset by the persuasiveness of local people who need a place "just for a minute."

No Turning Back
Child adoption procedures, under Texas law, are about as final as a thing can be — more so than marriage or divorce.

Texas Supreme Court underlined this in a recent decision that denied the right to change her mind to a mother who had given written permission for her children to be adopted.

In the case at issue, the mother, a widow, gave written permission for her two children to be adopted. Two months later, having remarried, she sought to regain the children.

Lower courts neld in favor of the natural mother, but the Supreme Court ruled that only fraud could be a basis for revoking of adoption consent.

Said the court opinion of the adoption laws: "The Legislature had the safety, education, care and protection of the children uppermost in mind and not primarily the contentment or welfare of either the natural or adoptive parents."

No Misunderstanding
In another ruling involving adoption, the Supreme Court held that an adopted child could not inherit a trust set up for a direct descendant.

As a result, a four-year-old boy lost the chance to claim $830,000.

In the case originating in Dallas, lower courts had upheld the child's claim to the money from his late grandfather's estate.

In his will, the grandfather had instructed that the $830,000 trust be set up if "any child of my son is born after my death." High court ruled that this made it highly unlikely that the maker of the will intended the money to go to a child born to persons other than his son and daughter-in-law.

Road Closed
If Texas' truck licensing law had a loophole you could drive a truck through the State Supreme Court has, in effect, halted the traffic.

High court ruled that a motor freight line cannot register and pay license fees on its trucks in Texas and use Mississippi licenses on its trailers. Texas' fee for a truck trailer is $226, compared to $10 in Mississippi.

High court ruled that if the truck line is resident in Texas, it must pay the Texas fee for the trailers, even if it pays in Mississippi, too. Result: $20,000 more taxes owed by the line in license fees to the State Highway Department.

Oil On the Highways?
On the heels of a U. S. Supreme Court decision that Texas owns its tidelands 10½ miles out comes a ruling that the state also owns the right-of-way along public roads.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the state, not the county, owns the road right-of-way and that the counties cannot lease the land for mineral development.

Whether the state should exercise its right and lease right-of-way lands for oil and gas exploration probably will not be decided until the Legislature sets a policy. Involved is some 1,200,000 acres of land on 228,000 miles of public roads, some of it across areas with oil-bearing strata.

Reading, 'Riting and Driving
State Board of Education took a jaundiced view of a proposal of state-supported driver education in public schools. Plea for driver education, one of the main planks in Governor Daniel's program for increased traffic safety, was presented by Brad Smith, director of the governor's Highway Safety Commission.

"Driver education in the schools is the only way to reduce the flow of uneducated drivers into the stream of traffic," Smith declared. A statewide driver training program has been the goal of the huge Texas Federation of Women's Clubs for some years.

Board members said they felt the matter did not properly belong in a school curriculum. They declined to make a recommendation to the Legislature.

Legal Test Probable
Board of Education decided to consider again in September the dilemma of school districts which stand to lose their state aid money under terms of a 1957 law governing school integration.

Under this law, districts which integrate without approval in a local election automatically lose state aid.

Dallas and Houston schools are under federal court order to integrate this fall. Houston voters turned down integration. Dallas' election is set for August 6.

State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said he had written Houston and Dallas school authorities telling them their state aid would have to be cut off if they integrated without a voter mandate.

Board discussed seeking an attorney general's opinion on the problem, probably in September after the Dallas election.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

July 24 through July 30 has been proclaimed by the President as National Farm Safety Week.

It is hoped that each one will make it a point to offer his assistance and cooperation locally in furthering the promotion of this event.

County agents and other government agencies have made a special effort to promote farm pond safety.

The Soil Conservation Service recommends farm ponds to have uniform smooth slopes. They should have guards over conduits and also have proper fencing. Snags, large rocks and trash should be removed, along with any object that would be a hazard to swimmers.

In addition to these efforts in the removal of hazards, our examples of conducting our own day to day affairs in a safe and courteous manner will go far to further encourage safety among farm families.

During the decade of the 1950's farm families have reduced their accident death rate from 63.3 deaths per 100,000 farm residents in 1950 to 54.3 deaths in 1958. Non-fatal injuries were likewise reduced. Nevertheless, injury and death rates from accidents continue to be higher among farm people than for the rest of the population.

The remedy is to practice safety vigilantly in the 1960's. The reward will be a greater enjoyment of life for thousands of farm families. Let's all begin at once to advance safety in the '60's.

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS

GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting — "at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

Postmaster Tells How to Eliminate Unwanted Advertising Circulars

Postmaster Marion Higdon has answered a question commonly asked post office employees. The question, Higdon said, is what can be done to prevent receipt of unsolicited and unwanted third-class matter, especially advertising circulars.

Higdon said patrons may refuse unwanted circular matter by endorsing it "refused" and handing it back to the carrier or placing it in a collection box if the sender has placed a guarantee on the mail stating that return postage will be paid.

If this guarantee is not shown on the envelope, then it would be useless to refuse this type of mail as the post office destroys all undeliverable third-class matter which does not carry assurance of return postage.

Those who wish to refuse third-class matter should note whether the sender has agreed to pay return postage. This agreement is indicated by one of the following endorsements on the left side of the piece: "Return postage guaranteed," "Forwarding Postage Guaranteed," or "Form 3547 Requested."

Refusal to accept mail matter is not always an assurance that no more will be received, Higdon said.

"Even though you endorse unwanted pieces of third-class mail 'Refused' and the sender has a guarantee to pay return postage, you may still receive this type of mail until your name is removed from the sender's mailing list," he said.

The most direct and effective action toward stopping objectionable third-class mail is to return the piece to the sender with a request that you be taken off his mailing list.

Higdon said only the recipient can do anything to discourage or to eliminate matter which is not morally or legally offensive. All matter that enters the mail properly prepared and carrying adequate postage must be delivered.
